490 migrants aboard ship

► Last fall, authorities boarded a ship carrying 76 Tamils ► Then, as now, officials worried some migrants may be part of Tamil Tigers, a terrorist organization

JONATHAN BAYWARD/THE CANADIAN PRESS

► A military boat passes by CFB Esquimalt in Colwood, B.C., on Thursday.
A suspect Tamil migrant boat is said to be headed directly to CFB Esquimalt.

The Canadian navy intercepted a cargo ship off British Columbia carrying hundreds of migrants believed to be Tamils from Sri Lanka on Thursday and began escorting it to Vancouver Island.

Some of the migrants may include dozens of children, says a lawyer who has heard from the migrants' families.

"There's a large number of children, children under 13," said Lorne Waldman, who represented many of the Sri Lankan migrants that arrived in a similar way last October.

"Human smugglers and human traffickers are now watching Canada's

VIC TOEWS, PUBLIC SAFETY MINISTER

Public Safety Minister Vic Toews labelled some of the 490 passengers on the ship "human smugglers and terrorists," although he didn't elaborate. He used the ship's arrival to promise swift action from Ottawa.

Toews said the government will be sending a message "loud and clear" that human smugglers will be prosecuted, though he provided no details.

Transport Canada confirmed Thursday the ship will be taken to Esquimalt harbour at CFB Esquimalt and that air traffic will be restricted from above the vessel as it travels and while it is docked.

Ex-gangster found dead

- ▶ Stanton used tattoos indicating Hells Angels status to intimidate: VPD
- ▶ Was arrested earlier this year after violent assaults at Ivanhoe Pub

▶ Vancouver police investigate the shooting of a former Hells Angels member near city hall on Thursday morning.

JEFF HODSON
@METRONEWS.CA

A former member of the Hells Angels was shot to death Thursday morning outside a renovated heritage home near Vancouver's city hall.

Juel Ross Stanton, 41, was killed in what police believe was a targeted hit at 6:15 a.m. outside a red house in the 200 block of West 11th Street.

Police found his body against a black iron gate on the Columbia Street side of the home.

He was scheduled to appear in provincial court Thursday on a number of assault, weapons and driving offences.

Const. Jana McGuinness said that Stanton had been a full-patch member, but he was expelled from the Angels earlier this year.

In the spring, Vancouver Insp. Brad Desmaris served "notice" to the Hells Angels East End chapter, because Stanton was using his status as a full-patch member to "terrify citizens in our community."

Expert analysis

Robert Gordon is an organized-crime expert at Simon Fraser University. Thursday's shooting, Gordon said, was likely a matter of internal discipline or a hit by a competing gang. And based on Stanton's past troubles and the fact that he was recently expelled from the Hells Angels, Gordon said he is leaning toward the former. If it was a discipline matter, he added, it is unlikely there would be any followup violence. "The public nature of it is unusual. Hells Angels usually deal with things in a much more genteel manner ... they fly as far below the radar as they possibly can go and this is a pretty public event."

Stanley Park fire put out

A small brush fire in Stanley Park was extinguished by Vancouver firefighters early Thursday morning.

According to the Vancouver Fire Department, it was started by a "group of homeless people who were camping out" near the Teahouse Restaurant.

The squatters were cooking over a fire when it spread and ignited a tree close by.

Various squatters are believed to camp out throughout Stanley Park.

Petition delay not our fault: Campbell

Premier Gordon Campbell said the Liberals are not to blame for delaying action on the validated anti-HST petition. Elections B.C. said it won't submit the petition to the legislature until a legal challenge is settled.

"Elections B.C. is totally independent, and certainly I think they acted with integrity," Campbell said Thursday.

NDP Leader Carole James wants the legislature recalled to debate the petition. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Student teachers face sex charges

Two student teachers in the Lower Mainland are facing sex charges in separate cases involving underage girls at their schools.

A 22-year-old practicum student was arrested on Thursday after befriending a 15-year-old student at his Abbotsford high school.

Police in that city allege the man and the girl were "together physically" on April 3 and that they continued a "relationship outside school hours."

Brian William Davis is charged with sexual interference.

Also on Thursday, Michael Herrera, 24, had a scheduled court appearance after a complaint by a 15-year-old girl at a Surrey high school.

RCMP said a student teacher at the school was "engaged in an inappropriate relationship with her." ● VANESSA YEE

Patients salute Kidney Suites

► Suites are occupied for around two months at a time ► 177 people have been housed in apartments

KRISTEN THOMPSON
@METRONEWS.CA

For a decade, out-of-town kidney transplant patients have been calling 330 East 6th Ave. home as they recover from surgery in home, furnished apartments provided for free by Vancouver charity, the Chelsea Society.

On Thursday, patients celebrated the 10th anniversary of the Kidney Suites in conjunction with the opening of a fourth apartment.

Rob Gibson, from Vancouver Island, is staying in a suite with his girlfriend as he recovers from a transplant.

"It's been great having access to the suite," he said. "It would have been a real hardship if (I) had to pay for a hotel room."

Costs

Vancouver is the only place in the province that provides kidney transplants, said Heather Johnson with the Kidney Foundation of Canada.

► It costs around $5,000 to furnish each Kidney Suite, and $500 a month for rent.

► Rent is covered, in part, by the New Chelsea Society and the Royal Canadian Legion.

11th annual Vancouver Chinatown Festival kicks off at noon Saturday

NATASHA POON

VANCOUVER@METRONEWS.CA

A street party, food and a new panda mascot are being counted on to attract a younger crowd to Chinatown's 125th anniversary celebrations this weekend, the event's chair said.

"We've taken a lot of baby steps to make Chinatown more relevant to our new generation over the last five to 10 years," said Jordan Eng, chair of the Vancouver Chinatown Festival.

"Chinatown remains the heart and soul of the community. The Festival is a great way to see a historic part of Vancouver and enjoy traditional food. It also helps re-engage the younger population into the community."

The event includes a Youth Talent Showdown dance competition on Sunday, free photo opportunities with the new

Bad bikers irk other bikers too: Instructor

Non-motorcycle riders who shake their fists at noisy bikes and dangerous drivers are not alone — other bikers get irked with this behaviour too, says a local motorcycle instructor.

Graham Street, who teaches at Roadcraft Motorcycle Academy in Richmond, said bad drivers tar everyone with the same brush.

"Riders who are traveling fast and on the shoulder and weaving in and out of traffic, they are the vast minority," said Street, who will be spreading his message of motorcycle safety at the annual Gastown Show n' Shine on Sunday.

"But because they are doing something that stands out, we remember them."

Street said noise is another big controversy. "There are a lot of riders that feel if they are heard it's an added safety feature. (But) ... it just echoes from everywhere."

"Just because you've been doing something a long time doesn't mean you're skilled at it."

Floods, fires, melting ice and feverish heat:

From smoke-choked Moscow to water-soaked Pakistan and the High Arctic, the planet is having a midsummer breakdown. It's a sign of troubling climate change already under way, scientists say.

The weather-related cataclysms of July and August fit patterns predicted by climate scientists, says the Geneva-based World Meteorological Organization.

The experts see an urgent need for better ways to forecast extreme events like Russia's heat wave and wildfires and the record deluge devastating Pakistan.

They'll discuss such tools in meetings this

Wacky weather

Storms and heat have left many parts of the world reeling. Two examples:

- ▶ Russia: It has been the hottest summer yet recorded in Russia with Moscow temperatures topping 38 C for the first time.
- ▶ Arctic: A chunk of ice the size of Manhattan has broken off the Petermann Glacier in Greenland's far northwest. In the Arctic ocean, the summer melt has reached unprecedented proportions.

government sponsorship.

"There is no time to waste," because societies must be equipped to deal with global warming, says British government climatologist Peter Stott.

Climatologists generally refrain from blaming warming entirely since so many other factors also affect the day's weather. It's better to think in terms of odds: Warming might double the chances for heat waves, for example.

Scientists have long predicted that rising global temperatures would produce intense heatwaves.

Their outlook for the world: More frequent and more intense and extreme weather events.

Flight attendant was instigator: Passengers

LOUIS LANZANO/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A flight attendant who made a now-notorious slide down a plane's emergency chute was rude to passengers.

That's the story from a pair of women aboard the JetBlue flight that ended dramatically in New York.

Marjorie Briskin, 53, claimed flight attendant Steven Slater blurted out an expletive during an otherwise normal conversation with a passenger over luggage just after the plane landed near Pittsburgh.

A young woman asked Slater which overhead bin her bag was in.

The conversation quickly turned nasty after Slater slung the expletive, Briskin said.

"I didn't think she was rude in the least," said Briskin. "It really blew my mind."

Lauren Dominijanni, 25, said Slater was rude to her after she boarded the plane in Pittsburgh.

She said he "rolled his eyes at me" when she asked for a wipe to clean up coffee someone spilled on her seat.

Slater had a "nice gash" on his head during the flight, and when it ended began flinging open overhead bins and slamming them shut, Briskin said.

Another passenger noted that he spent much of the 90-minute flight slamming overhead bins and refrigerator doors in the galley.

"He looked disturbed at that point," Briskin said.

It's unclear exactly how Slater's face was cut.

But he had it as passengers boarded the plane in Pittsburgh and joked "they're always trying to kill me around here," passenger Kati Doeblinger said.

Passengers and authorities say Slater unleashed a profanity-laden tirade before deploying the emergency chute, sliding down and racing to his home in Queens.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who is he?

Slater is free on bail after being arraigned on criminal mischief and reckless endangerment charges.

- 1 His boyfriend, Kenneth Rochelle, said he was 'at home relaxing.'
- 2 Rochelle called him a 'lovely, classy, beautiful person' who in the past had been very patient with passengers having a bad day.
- 3 Slater's ex-wife, Cynthia Susanne, called him a consummate flight attendant. They have a son together.

Rain boosts misery of landslides

Rain caused new landslides and swelled rivers Thursday in the northwestern China region where hundreds have died in massive slides triggered by flooding.

A deluge triggered mudslides that swept away six houses in Xizangba village, blocked a river near Libazi village, and obstructed a road used to ferry relief goods, said officials in Gansu province.

Gay marriage on hold

A federal judge on Thursday put gay marriages on hold for at least another six days in California, raising hopes among same-sex couples that they soon will be able to tie the knot after years of agonizing delays.

Judge Vaughn Walker

gave opponents of same-sex weddings until Aug. 18 at 5 p.m. to get a ruling from the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on whether gay marriage should resume.

Gay marriages could happen at that point or be put off indefinitely, depending on how the court rules.

Walker struck down the state's voter-approved gay marriage ban last week in a case many believe is destined for the U.S. Supreme Court.

More help needed, says Pakistan PM

► Flood-affected people struggle for relief items distributed in a camp in Nowshera, Pakistan on Thursday.

► United States pledges $71 million in emergency assistance

A shipload of U.S. Marines and helicopters arrived to boost relief efforts in flooded Pakistan on Thursday, but the prime minister told The Associated Press his country needs more international help to cope with one of the worst natural disasters in its history. The United Nations warned the crisis was far from over, saying dams in Sindh province could still burst in the coming days. More rain fell around the country, and monsoon season is forecast to last several weeks still.

Spokesman Maurizio Giuliano said UN officials roughly estimated that up to one-fourth of the country is or had been affected by the floods, though those areas were not necessarily under water.

The government has been sharply criticized for a slow and patchy response to the floods, which has killed 1,500 people left and left an estimat-

Intelligence tip starts events, court hears.

► Testimony The first prosecution witness, identified as Col. W, testified the events that July day began with an intelligence tip that an al-Qaida cell was operating from the compound, a large model of which was presented in court.

Two Khadr's presented in case

A trained al-Qaida terrorist who bragged about killing Americans. A frightened, wounded child caught up in a deadly situation through no fault of his own.

The starkly differing views of Omar Khadr emerged Thursday in opening statements of his long-awaited war-crimes trial.

Prosecutor Jeff Groharing kicked off the U.S. government's case against the 23-year-old Canadian by portraying him as a hard-nosed killer.

"Omar Khadr is a terrorist who was trained by al-Qaida who murdered Sgt. 1st Class Christopher Speer," Groharing told the seven-person jury as the soldier's widow watched.

"Khadr decided to conspire with al-Qaida so that he could kill as many Americans as possible."

The accused, Groharing said, confessed to throwing the hand grenade that killed Speer July 27, 2002, at a compound in Khost, Afghanistan.

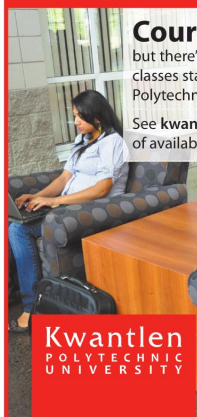

Speer died eight days later.

REAL FREE TRADE IS WIN-WIN

This reasoning is more common than we might think. And sometimes justifies the hostility to commerce, or free trade. After all, if capitalist pigs profit, the poor suffer, right?

Wrong.
The other day, I paid $2 for a bottle of juice. When the clerk said, "Thank you," I responded, "Thank you." This is more than just a social oddity. There's an economics lesson behind this.

Why does it happen? Because I want the juice more than the bucks, and the store wants the bucks more than the juice. Both of us win.

Trade is win-win — even if you're buying from someone in another country.

But borders are either accidents of history or the results of politicians' arbitrary decisions. Do you know if Toronto runs a trade deficit with Hamilton? No. Because nobody cares.

I trade with you. You trade with me. Smith trades with Nguyen. Individuals trade with individuals.

If the economy continues to tank, governments will be sorely tempted to block foreign products by taxing them. That would be a mistake.

5 MINUTES WITH: JOHN NIGHTINGALE

On Tuesday, 32 guest explorers will be joining Vancouver Aquarium president John Nightingale on an expedition to Canada's Arctic and Greenland to explore the region's changing landscape.

Led by the Fathom Expedition, the group will visit isolated communities and will get up close and personal with local wildlife like narwhals and polar bears to bring their observations back to Vancouver.

Why are you going on this trip to the Arctic?

This is something the Aquarium does every year. It's one large exploration trip. January of 2009 saw us in Antarctica and this is the bookend to that trip. We're going back to connect (the issues there) with the Aquarium. The overall theme is one of exploration in a time when the Arctic is changing by the minute. The biggest change is climate change and its effect on animals (and) the culture.

Why is it important to meet with people who live in the Arctic?

Many of those folks are better at telling their own stories than we ever will be. You will see some of their stories on the display floor in the Aquarium, on our YouTube channel and on our blogs.

How will this trip benefit the Vancouver Aquarium?

My sense is that we are only slightly more Arctic literate than our cousins to the south. (We want to) acquaint people with the Arctic personally through awareness and familiarization. Everyone (on our team) is a reporter and an agent for us.

On a personal level, what are you most interested in?

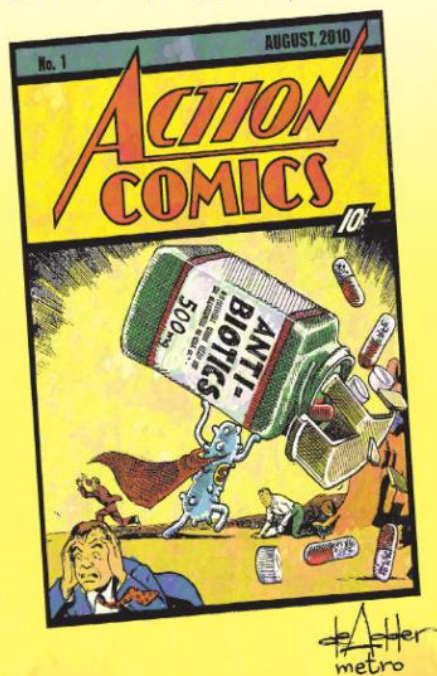

I find the Arctic fascinating.

The landscape is otherworldly. Parts of it are flat and boggy and others are hugely mountainous with gorgeous glaciers. The wildlife is amazing. And we learn about and are given perspective about where we live by going to some place to compare and contrast, and that's a wonderful thing that still happens to myself. These people are very lucky to do something that for many is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity and I'm very lucky to get to go back to Canada's Arctic. It's truly an amazing part of our country.

best scientific advice to mobilize the economy toward drastically reducing carbon burning.

The tar sands as an economic generator would be slowly phased out, except where the best scientific minds could figure out an economical way of sequestering carbon.

Crown corporations or public-private partnerships would be created to employ every unemployed Canadian for the task of retrofitting all of our old houses and buildings up to the standards of a new building code that would make all buildings efficient in energy use as never before.

Bateman speaking his mind

On the never-ending Arrested Development movie rumours

"Yesterday somebody said, 'You and Jen should keep working together. How about the Arrested Development movie?' and I responded, 'Actually there's a great role for her, I'm going to pitch her.' I was just having fun, but there were about 25 headlines this morning on crappy blogs saying Jennifer has signed onto the movie. It's frustrating and I hate talking about it because there's never anything significant to report. ... but it's still something that we'd all love to do. Hopefully soon."

Just when Aniston's observation threatened to make the conversation serious, co-star Jason Bateman jumped in to remind us that it's a comedy.

"I think that we should charge more for that movie than just $10 now," joked the actor. "That sounds like a full package."

On his child actor co-star

"The experience that I had growing as a child actor was helpful because I remember that point of view. It's nerve-wracking. Thomas Robinson was six when we shot. I don't know how someone who is three years into the English language was able to take what was a new language for him and manipulate it and find nuance in a sentence that he barely understands. He's really talented."

man responded to the material because it allowed him to explore the awkward and victimized male comedic lead that he's toyed with since Arrested Development.

"I don't know how much of that was just me being interested in that type of character and trying to cram that into what was written though," remarked the actor.

Aniston and Bateman seem to share a genuine friendship both on and off screen. This, of course, begs the age-old question about whether men and women can only be friends. Aniston laughed before responding with a dismissive, "Of course," but Bateman had a different point of view.

"I feel like a guy and a girl can be best friends as long as at least one of them is in a relationship," says the actor. "But as soon as both are single, start the clock, soak it in booze, and watch things happen."

Flesh-eating fish thrive on fear

- Piranha 3D stars a mutated form of the killer fish
- Prehistoric creatures bigger, nastier and uglier

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

With a movie like Piranha 3D, it's pretty safe to assume you know what you're going to get.

In fact, if there were any doubt, director Alexandre Aja recently described the film as a mix between Gremlins, Weird Science and Dead Alive.

"It is funny," exclaimed star Jessica Szohr (TV's Gossip Girl) from Manhattan. "I think you'll laugh, you'll be very scared and entertained — it's a scary, funny, summer popcorn movie."

Even the studio's marketing department has picked up on Piranha 3D's potential as a fun summer movie. The film's poster fittingly pays homage to Steven Spielberg's classic Jaws but while that 1975 thriller featured a menacing shark, Piranha 3D stars a mutated form of nasty omnivorous freshwater fish.

"(The filmmakers) based it off a prehistoric piranha so it's not like your modern-day piranha and they kind of decided to make it look like what they thought a prehistoric one would look like," said Szohr. Indeed, the species in the thriller is definitely bigger, uglier and much nastier — especially in 3-D. "It'll be fun (to see) with the piranhas popping out at you and all the craziness that goes on."

Presumably, Hollywood will be banking on flesh-eating fish to have the ► Jerry O'Connell stars in Piranha 3D, in theatres next week.

same effect Jaws had on audiences more than 30 years ago — fear of the water. Even more than three-dimensional seafood, that natural phobia may be the true potency of Piranha 3D. "We don't know what's going on (underwater). You can't see and you can only go under for so long if you want to check out what's going on. It's just a whole mystery of what is there," said Szohr with a dramatic pause. "... Or what's not."

Big Fish

Other Famous
Frightening Fish:

- Creature from the Black Lagoon — In 1954, audiences were terrorized by the menacing (but misunderstood) Amazon Gill Monster ... in 3-D no less!
- Jaws — Spielberg's 1975 magnum opus about a shark terrorizing Amity Island set the bar for the rest to follow.
- Piranha — Directed by Joe Dante (Gremlins), the 1978 nail-biter was the loose basis for Piranha 3D.

Movie reviews

See it twice 🍿🍿🍿 | See it now 🍿🍿 | Worth watching 🍿 | Yawn 🍿 | Don't bother 🍿

Eat, pray, indulgeEat Pray Love*Genre: DramaDirector: Ryan MurphyStars: Julia Roberts

There's a lot wrong with the film adaptation of best-seller Eat, Pray Love.

It's a completely self-indulgent exploration of upper-middle-class dissatisfaction, it condescends to native cultures and eastern spirituality and it never adequately identifies just what problems protagonist Liz Gilbert (Julia Roberts) is struggling with. But none of that is the fault of Roberts or director and co-writer Ryan Murphy.

The movie is well-shot, with sumptuous visuals and exciting camera work, and Roberts does her best to make Gilbert likeable or at least relateable. No, the real problems are with the source material.

The story goes that Gilbert walks away from her flighty husband (Billy Crudup) because of an undefined sense of lack, shacks up with an actor (James Franco) and then ditches him, hijacking his obnoxious affinity for an Indian guru and taking off on a year-long journey of self-discovery and indulgence. Along the way, she learns it's OK to enjoy eating in Rome, smiles and nods at a young woman forced into an arranged marriage in India and tries to resist the charms of an older Brazilian man (Javier Bardem) in Bali while basically using the locals as fashionable accessories.

About the only thing Murphy can be blamed for is the running time. The movie clocks in at a leisurely 140 minutes, and there's really no excuse for that. In each of the three locations, there are points where the story lags. It's basically almost two and a half hours of "but I've never been to me." • NED EHRBAR

Scott Pilgrim vs. The World*Genre: Action/RomanceDirector: Edgar WrightStars: Michael Cera

Scott Pilgrim Vs The World is best described as a hyperkinetic loveletter to eight-bit gaming, indie rock, young love, kung fu movies, Toronto and...ok, maybe it's hard to describe.

Based on the graphic novel by Bryan Lee O'Malley, the film is a pop culture-soaked romantic comedy about a boy who falls for a girl and must defeat her seven evil exes through increasingly hilarious and ludicrous fight sequences to win her heart. Director Edgar Wright (Hot Fuzz) was assigned to bring the comic to the big screen and anyone whose seen his previous movies knows that he has an ADD sense of pacing and visual storytelling that makes him perfect for the material.

For the most part this is style over substance entertainment. Fortunately, that style is exquisitely executed, so it doesn't really matter. • PHIL BROWN

The Expendables*Genre: ActionDirector: Sylvester StalloneStars: Sylvester Stallone, Jet Li, Jason Statham

More kitschy than captivating, The Expendables is Sly Stallone's latest foray into mining his glory years for success in contemporary Hollywood. And why not? After all, his last two outings — Rocky Balboa and Rambo — have seen the sexagenarian accumulating his biggest numbers at the box office in years. This time around, he avoids reviving a dead franchise (what was left anyhow? Stop! Or My Mom Will Shoot?). Instead, Stallone fuses together the likes of seasoned '80s action stars like Dolph Lundgren and Bruce Willis with today's top draws (including Jet Li and Jason Statham) to form a band of mercenaries hired to bring down a South American dictatorship. For audiences who have kept a special place in their heart for old style shoot 'em ups and the likes of Lundgren, The Expendables is a guilty delight. • STEVE GOW

Soul Kitchen*Genre: ComedyDirector: Faïth AkinStars: Adam Bousdoukos

Just as run-down Greek/German restaurant owner Zinos (Adam Bousdoukos) becomes disillusioned by taxes, the departure of his girlfriend and the reappearance of his convict brother, he reluctantly reinvents himself through entrepreneurship in the comedy-drama Soul Kitchen. Surprised by an inspection, Zinos is given mere days to revive the dive's standards by taking on a colourful, hard-boiled chef. While acclaimed filmmaker Faïth Akin's frantic pace and oddball mix of characters keep the energy flowing, Soul Kitchen often flips tone dramatically.

• STEVE GOWMesrine: Killer Instinct*Genre: ActionDirector: Jean-Francois RichetStars: Vincent Cassel

Vincent Cassel (La Haine, Irreversible, and Le Sheitan) is a superstar in France whose status sadly never crossed the pond. Mesrine is a huge two-part crime epic made to capitalize on his fame and acting ability that delivers more thrills, kills, bloody spills, and disturbing drama than a dozen Hollywood crime movies. This first chapter chronicles real life criminal Jacques Mesrine's rise through the French underworld in the 1960s before having to flee the country and spend some time in a vicious French-Canadian prison. Though hard to judge without the inevitably downbeat concluding movie, Jean-Francois Richet's lowlife odyssey appears to be on track to becoming the star driven period crime epic we all wanted Public Enemies to be. • PHIL BROWN

Animal Kingdom*Genre: DramaDirector: David MichodStars: Jackie Weaver

Australian director David Michod's Animal Kingdom works its titular metaphor for all its worth: The criminal clan at its centre is depicted as a feral, incestuous tangle of alpha males, lorded over by a crafty matriarch (Jackie Weaver). The question is whether our teenaged protagonist (James Frecheville) will assume his place in the pack or transcend the bad life altogether; that the movie has its mind made up well before the final scene doesn't detract from the effectiveness of the performances or the sudden, horrifying bursts of violence.

YOU SHOULD CALL IT THE BIG SMOKESCREEN

The new film Scott Pilgrim vs. The World begins with a title card that reads "Not so long ago in the mysterious land of Toronto, Canada."

It establishes that the movie is set in Toronto, but not the Toronto we usually see in films. That Toronto often subs for New York or Chicago.

The Toronto of Scott Pilgrim comes complete with Casa Loma, Lee's Palace and other T-Dot landmarks. It's probably the most expensive movie to feature Toronto as itself, but it's not the only one. Here's a look back at Toronto on-screen:

Lawyerin' and doctorin' jobs!

For many people the first on-screen glimpse of Toronto onscreen came from the backseat of a 1960 Chevrolet Impala. Goin' Down the Road, the story of Pete (Doug McGrath) and his pal Joey (Paul Bradley), two Maritimers who set out in a Chevy to find a better life in Toronto, (SCTV joked they were looking for "lawyerin' and doctorin' jobs") is a city time capsule circa 1970.

Yonge and Dundas and Beyond

For a look at the down-and-dirty Yonge Street Strip, once the body rub capital of Canada, check out Ron Mann's 1974 Super-8 documentary The Strip. On the other end of the scale is Atom Egoyan's Chloe, the story of a Toronto escort and the woman who hires her to test her husband's fidelity. Toronto has never looked lovelier than this.

"At the level of metaphor, it's interesting because Toronto is a prostitute. As a city, very often it pretends to be New York or Chicago or San Francisco," Egoyan said. "So it's interesting that since this is a film about that."

THE HEROIN BOOK TOUR, PART 1

Sound Check

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

This summer has turned into the summer of the former junkie confessional autobiography.

First up was Dave Mustaine, a founding member of Metallica and since 1983, the leader of Megadeth. His book, Mustaine: A Heavy Metal Memoir (HarperCollins), contains so many tales of alcohol and drug abuse that you're almost guaranteed to wake up the next morning with a hangover and a bad case of opiate withdrawal.

Mustaine knows rehab because he's been through it 17 times. "You go in there, get sobered up but there was no really giving you the tools to cope with stuff. It's like sobering up a drunken horse thief. As soon as he sobers up, what have you got? A horse thief." Dave's spiral to near-death was rooted largely in unresolved emotional pain that went back decades.

► Dave Mustaine of Megadeth performs on stage last year in Sydney, Australia.

The most frightening rehab episode involved falling asleep in an awkward position in a chair. When he woke up, his left arm was asleep and wouldn't wake up. Doctors said he'd never play guitar again.

"There's a little nerve on the inside of my bicep on my left arm. It's about 4 millimetres around and it got crunched like when you chew on a drinking straw. It needed to grow back and it grows at a millimetre per month. Then there was the physical therapy that followed that: 13 months of picking up needles with some tweezers and sticking them into a pegboard and turning a doorknob. It was 17 months before I could pick up a guitar again.

"When you're a guitar player and you have that taken away from you, it's devastating. It was THIS HAND," he says gesturing with what he calls "the money maker."

This incident — and Mustaine's ability to recover — convinced him that perhaps a higher power was showing him the error of his ways and that he could reform his ways. That's when the wannabe Satanist and part-time practitioner of black magic embraced Christianity.

"If anyone needed to have a life-changing event take place, it was me. I didn't realize that God was all I needed until He was all I had."

Mustaine is a fascinating look into the darker sides of being a famous metal musician. Recommended.

Next week: Steven Adler, the guy who was thrown out of Guns 'N Roses for taking too many drugs.

Parenting experts back Team Aniston

► The Switch actress gets support for comments about single motherhood, claiming O'Reilly is "out of touch"

Bill O'Reilly may still be squawking about how Jennifer Aniston is "destructive to society," because her new movie, The Switch, sends the message to kids that a woman doesn't need a man to have a baby. But parenting experts weighing in on the media squabble are firmly Team Aniston, saying the host of FOX News' The O'Reilly Factor is out of touch with modern society.

"It's unrealistic and not in touch with how family is changing," social psychologist Susan Newman, author of Parenting an Only Child, tells gossip website PopEater.

"The traditional family that we have always known as mom, dad and two kids is no longer the traditional family."

The Conservative blowhard flipped out over comments made by the 41-year-old actress while promoting her film, where she plays a woman who decides to conceive by using a sperm donor and artificial insemination.

Said Aniston: "Women are realizing more and more that you don't have to settle, they don't have to fiddle with a man to have that child. They are realizing if it's that time in their life and they want this part they can do it with or without that."

Grammer's new lady friend is knocked up, dad says

AND KELSEY HAS NOW BEEN INDUCTED INTO THE GOLD DIGGERS' HALL OF FAME UNDER 'EASIEST TARGET' Kelsey Grammer may have been trying to keep news of his alleged new girlfriend, British flight attendant Kayte Walsh, under wraps, but Walsh's dad has other ideas, telling the press that not only are they together but Walsh is also pregnant with Grammer's fifth child, according to Hollyscoop. "I don't know how long they have been together and I have not met him yet, but I'm looking forward to it," her dad, Alan Walsh, says. "We just found out about her pregnancy a couple of days ago. I think they met in New York socially because she works for Virgin Airways and often stops over in America."

Pregnancy a 'surprise' for Alanis

Alanis Morissette says news of her pregnancy came as a surprise.

The Ottawa singer appeared on the late-night chat show Chelsea Lately on Wednesday night, just hours after she announced that she and rapper hus-

Morissette, wearing a black suit and heels, told host Chelsea Handler that she didn't realize she was pregnant when she went to the doctor.

"Is that normal?" And I said, 'No, that's not really typical for me.' ... I was very happy."

Blake wants out of Gossip loop

Though the show made her a star, Blake Lively is looking for a way out of Gossip Girl because of all the in-fighting among the young cast, according to Heat magazine. "Blake has asked producers to kill off her character. She's tired of working on the show," a source says. "It was great at the beginning, but she's started to get bored of her story-lines and all the petty fights on set. Nearly all the cast members have had some kind of bust-up."

One burger, four cuts of meat

► Solving the problem of dry burgers ► A hands-off approach helps keep the meat fluffy

Ingredients :

- 250 g (1/2 lb) ground prime rib
- 500 g (1 lb) ground brisket
- 500 g (1 lb) ground skirt steak
- 250 g (1/2 lb) ground filet
- 8 hamburger buns
- Kosher salt and pepper
- 1 large red onion, sliced into 5-mm (1/4-inch) rings
- 250 ml (1 cup) lemon aioli
- 250 g (1/2 lb) brie, cut into thin slices

When Tyler Florence was creating hamburgers for his new restaurant, his goal was simple — a burger that stays moist no matter how well-done it is cooked.

The solution was all a matter of numbers — one month of experimenting with the percentage of fat and the number of cuts of meat.

"Most people do an 80-20 lean-to-fat ratio," Florence, whose Wayfare Tavern opened recently in San Francisco, said in a telephone interview.

"We go 75-to-25 ratio, so it's a little fattier. So even if you like it well done, it's still nice and moist."

For the cuts of meat, Florence settled on four of them — prime rib, brisket, skirt steak and filet. And after they are ground (at another facility), it's mostly a hands-off procedure.

"When it comes in, no one is really allowed to touch it except to take it out of the package and weigh it out," said Florence, host of Food Network's The Great Food Truck Race. "It gets touched once before it goes on the grill. It loses that fluffiness once you work it too much. It starts to become chewy really quickly."

Florence was equally exacting when it came to toppings.

"You can't just put stuff on top of the burger for the sake of it," he said. "To me, it's got to be very purposeful stuff. You have to really think it through so it's a complimentary flavour and not a distraction from the burger."

For the AP's 20 Burgers of Summer series, Florence opted for an intensely savoury and creamy combination of oven-roasted red onions, lemon aioli and brie.

Preparation:

- 1 In a large bowl, mix prime rib, brisket, skirt steak and filet together until well blended, but not overworked.
- 2 Divide meat into 8 portions and shape into patties. Season with salt and pepper.
- 3 Heat oven to 200 C (400 F). Line a baking sheet with parchment paper.

- 4 Arrange onion slices in a single layer on prepared pan. Roast onion slices for 10 to 12 minutes or until tender. Set aside.

- 5 Heat grill on high. Grill burgers to desired doneness, about 4 minutes on each side for medium-rare.

- 6 Top bottom half of each roll with a burger, some of the red onions, aioli and brie.

Japan showing off its whiskies

It wasn't too long ago that Owen Westman's customers at Rickhouse Bar didn't even know there were Japanese whiskies available, let alone ask for them by name.

"They certainly do now," he says.

Although best known for sake, Japan has a whisky tradition stretching back more than a century. It's not widely available in North America, but that's changing as companies like major producer Suntory work to boost overseas sales.

And maybe Bill Murray had something to do with it. His character in the 2003 movie Lost in Translation goes to Japan to shoot a whisky commercial.

Suntory exports a number of products, including Yamazaki single malt whiskies and Hibiki, a blend. Like Scotch, the Japanese product is spelled without the extra "e." In fact, the origins of the Japanese whisky industry have ties to Scotland. Suntory founder Shinjiro Torii hired Masataka Taketsuru, who studied distilling in Scotland. Taketsuru went on to found Nikka, also a major producer.

Despite that history, Suntory whisky is "not Scotch made in Japan," points out Eric Ariyoshi, a Suntory brand manager based in San Francisco.

One of Torii's goals was "to really create a Japanese

Overseas sales

► Overall, Japanese whisky is a fraction of total U.S. sales. Suntory launched the Hibiki brand in Europe and the U.S. last year with sales of 6,000 cases. This year, they hope to sell 8,000 cases of Hibiki overseas and 31,000 cases of Yamazaki. To put that into perspective, 2009 total whiskey sales in the United States amounted to 46.5 million cases, according to the U.S. Distilled Spirits Council.

whisky that catered to a more subtle palate," says Ariyoshi. "If you think about Japanese food it tends to be on the lighter side, very subtle flavours. One of his specific goals was to create a whisky that fits into that palate."

Lions done in by Riders' rushing

► Roughriders score three running TDs in first half ► Lions fall to 1-6

LIONS	RIDERS

Wes Cates and Darian Durant each ran in two touchdowns as the Saskatchewan Roughriders rolled over the visiting B.C. Lions 37-13 on Thursday.

Cates ran for 61 yards while quarterback Durant added 67 more with his legs as the Roughriders scored four of their five touchdowns on the ground in the win.

Saskatchewan's defensive back Lance Frazier set up Cates' first touchdown run of the day when he stepped in front of Geroy Simon to intercept Jarious Jackson.

Frazier returned it 25 yards to B.C.'s three-yard line, and Cates punched it in on the next play.

The Riders followed that up with a six-play, 51-yard drive that was capped by a nine-yard touchdown run by Durant on a quarterback draw. All six plays were runs by Cates or Durant.

Cates scored again 13 minutes later from one yard out, capping a 74-yard drive that gave Saskatchewan a commanding 21-6 lead.

B.C. came out strong in the second half as Yonus Davis, who rushed for 84 yards in the game, ran 51 yards to score on the Lions' first offensive play of the third quarter.

Saskatchewan's defence, led by a three-sack performance by Jerrell Freeman, shut down B.C. for the rest of the game.

Durant, who completed 18-of-27 passes for 223 yards, also ran for a seven-yard touchdown and connected with Chris Getzlaf for a 30-yard touchdown pass — the only TD pass of the game — in the fourth quarter.

Paul McCallum kicked two field goals in the first quarter and surrendered a safety in the fourth quarter to round out the scoring.

Jackson finished the game 18 of 32 for 194 yards and an interception.

Federer wins an old-school showdown

► Third seed prevails in creative contest with Llodra
► Djokovic and Nadal also advance to next round

Michael Llodra tried every trick in the book in his third-round match with Roger Federer at the Rogers Cup.

Fancy drop shots. A between-the-legs volley. He even tried an underhand serve.

Federer was ready for almost all of it on the sun-baked hardcourt at the Rexall Centre, and advanced to the quarter-finals with a 7-6 (2), 6-3 victory on Thursday. Top-seeded Rafael Nadal of Spain, second-seeded Novak Djokovic of Serbia and fourth-seeded Andy Mur-

Upsets

- Fifth-seeded Robin Soderling of Sweden dropped a 4-6, 6-4, 6-1 decision to Argentina's David Nalbandian.
- Jeremy Chardy of France knocked off sixth-seeded Russian Nikolay Davydenko 6-3, 6-2.

ray of Britain also posted victories to move on to the final eight.

The Federer-Llodra match was a return to old-school tennis, with both players showing creativity and aggressiveness instead of the more common baseline power game used by many at the sport's top level.

The crowd ate it up and the players enjoyed it too. Llodra even picked up a souvenir after shaking hands with the two-time champion, asking Federer for his pink tennis shirt.

The top two seeds posted straight-set victories as Djokovic downed Victor Hanesu of Romania 6-3, 6-4 while Nadal beat South African qualifier Kevin Anderson 6-2, 7-6 (6).

Hamilton digs in on build site

Hamilton city council has reaffirmed the downtown West Harbour site as the location for a new stadium, but two councillors have pulled their support for the project.

Thursday's ratification vote was 10-6 in favour of the West Harbour location over the East Mountain. Tuesday's count at the committee level was 12-3.

Councillors Terry Whitehead and Tom Jackson changed their votes Thursday and Brad Clark, who didn't attend Tuesday's session, also voted no.

The stadium is slated to play host to the Pan American Games in August 2015 and was to become the new home of the CFL's Hamilton Tiger-Cats. But Ticats owner Bob Young wanted the new building at the East Mountain site and pulled his support for the project earlier this week.

To my Sugar Plum, our relationship so far has been the best eight days of my life. I'll never forget lawn-bowling, buying belts and frolicking at Byward. Love always. YOUR SWEET SWEET TREASURE

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 19

Steer clear of contentious issues today, especially those involving politics or religion. You may have strong views on certain subjects, but so do other people. You won't persuade them. Keep your distance.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 21

You are being far too serious about something that's really of no importance at all. Take your mind off the issue by seeking out people who make you feel good, who make you laugh.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

You may be of the opinion that someone you work or do business with is trying to undermine your efforts, but in fact they are trying to help you. Listen and learn.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

No matter how annoying certain individuals may be you must not allow yourself to be provoked. You may be angry on the inside, but on the outside you should project a picture of calm serenity.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

A sudden attraction is likely today, but you are really too different for the relationship, such as it is, to stand the test of time. Treat it as a bit of fun.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

You need to do a bit of serious thinking about a partnership or association that has been quite profitable in the past, but seems to be running out of steam. In a nutshell: It's holding you back.

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

You would be wise to take things slow and easy today, because what happens over the weekend will demand your full attention and every last bit of energy you can muster.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

Something you hear while on the move today will inspire you to aim higher and try harder and before the day is over your mind will be teeming with plans for the rest of the year.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

Life has been so kind to you of late that some people, both at home and at work, are feeling a bit resentful. If they had your positive attitude maybe they would get lucky, too.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

You are right to feel pleased with what you have accomplished in recent weeks, but you know what they say about pride coming before a fall. Times may be good, but take nothing for granted.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

Stop worrying about what has gone wrong and start thinking about all the wonderful things that are going to go right today, tomorrow and every day of your life from now on.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

Usually you are only too eager to come to the aid of someone in need, but today you just want to be left alone. Find a quiet place where you can be alone. SALLY BROMPTON
